Why It Matters

When a HollisterStier Allergy customer faced an in-clinic shortage after their purchaser went on extended leave, the task was overlooked due to the demands of their busy clinic. In response, the HollisterStier Allergy team worked with the clinic to set up a recurring order for their most used extracts. This ensured that their clinic and staff would never face this difficulty again.

Whether there's a change in staff, or you want to simplify your processes, HollisterStier Allergy's recurring order program can support you.
